FUNERAL OF SENATOR HOAR.

Last Tributes to Statesman Paid at Worcester.

Edward Everett Hale Delivers the Eulogy.

Bared Heads and Women's Sobs as Hearse Passes.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.

WORCESTER (Mass.) Oct. 3.—The body of Worcester's foremost citizen, Gov. Francis Hoar, while the State of Massachusetts was in a large measure, the nation, sympathized with the municipality in her grief.

Rev. Edward Everett Hale, chaplain of the United States Senate, and lifelong friend of Senator Hoar, conducted prayers at the home just before 2 o'clock. Only members of the immediate household and a few neighbors attended.

The body was then placed in the hearse by the active pallbearers, all past secretaries of the Senator, and the honorary pallbearers, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, T. Jefferson Coolidge, Charles Francis Adams, Atty. Gen. William H. Moody, former Gov. Murray Crane, Gov. Wm. F. Drayton, Judge Francis C. Lowell of Boston, Col. George H. Lyman of Boston, Stephen Salisbury, Henry A. Marsh, G. S. Avery, Hale and Willard, E. Rice of Worcester. The active pallbearers and the family escorted the remains to the Church of the Unity.

The militia force of the city, four companies of infantry and a battery of light artillery under arms were stationed in the streets to aid the police in the almost unnecessary effort to control the great crowd that followed the hearse passed every man bared his head and many women sobbed.

The capacity of the church is 600, and it was necessary to limit the attendance. The city of Worcester had its Mayor for its only official representative. The Bishop of Worcester, the Rev. Edward Everett Hale, delivered the eulogy.

"I think that we who know him in his home life feel as if no one else knew how to prize him, though a whole country is expressing admiration and tenderness over his death."

"There never was a person who so entirely relied upon the realities, truth, righteously and peace. He could be trusted implicitly in all his acts, but in common life, in common walk, he relied absolutely upon the sincerity of his expression, and I think that faith in the American people which caused him to speak magnificently once and again in his public utterances may be traced directly to his faith in men to his certainty that they were the children of God, that they inherit the divine nature and to his certainty in the being and presence of God."

"A thousand people have said to me that the death blow came on Christ's cross, when the world was called away. This was true; but he was conscious of the weight he was carrying in trying to support the world up to that time, even in hard criticism of his life from those he loved, even in the stress of public life and the necessity of ever displeasing those whom he loved, to his certainty that they were the children of God, that they inherit the divine nature and to his certainty in the being and presence of God."

"We are not here to analyze a great character. God grant that the memories of such a man may remain in our hearts, upright, courageous and true. We are here to thank the good God that such a man has lived, to ask His help to keep fresh the memory of such a life and to pray for his soul."

At the conclusion of the services the body was conveyed to the City Hall, where it will lie in state until 8 p.m. Tomorrow morning services will be taken to record for burial.

WORCESTER (Mass.) Oct. 3.—The Republican convention for the Third Congressional District today nominated Rockwood Hoar, son of the late Senator, by acclamation, for Representative.

GURNEY NOT GUILTY.

LAWSON Man Declares His Son, Who Was Being Entertained by Secretary, Was Too Speedy.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.

LENOX (Mass.) Oct. 3.—F. Schermerhorn of New York declared today that his son, Amos Schermerhorn, was the driver of British Secretary Hugh Gurney's automobile September 25 when Mr. Gurney was charged with violating the Stockbridge speed ordinance. Schermerhorn also said that Sheriff Noble, who made the arrest, was doing his duty in the machine as an accommodation when he apprised the automobile that they were exceeding the speed limit.

Schermerhorn gave out the information today in recognition, as he said, of the gallantry of Secretary Gurney in saving the life of his son. The matter is still in the hands of the police, but it would be necessary for them to proceed to Stockbridge, and Mr. Gurney invited him to ride along with them.

On the way to the town office, who was Deputy Sheriff Noble, pulled out his watch and said that they were again going faster than the law allowed. Mr. Gurney expressed regret when informed that the deputy must take the names of those responsible, presented his card. The party drove to the County house, where the arrangements were made for Mr. Gurney's appearance the next morning.

An attempt was made to see Secretary Gurney this afternoon. An interview was denied, however, it being stated at the embassy that the incident was regarded as practically closed.

STILL AFTER FACTS.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—A formal request for a detailed statement of facts in the Gurney case was received today by Gov. Bates from Acting Secretary of State Adele. The Governor will comply as soon as possible.

MIRSKY BACKS UP HIS WORDS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 4.—Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky, the new Minister of the Interior, has already begun energetically the work of putting his published utterances into effect. Two assistant ministers, the former members of the Zemstvo, have been transferred to the inactivity of the council of the empire, and half a dozen of the late Minister Von Plehve's other subordinates have already been displaced. In addition, Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky has also issued an order permitting the Woschol (Sunrise), a Jewish organa here, which Minister Von Plehve suppressed last spring, to resume publication.

COLLEGIALE MORALITY.

Despite Reports It's up to Standard Found Outside Academic Walls, Says President Angell.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) Oct. 3.—Over three thousand students gathered in University Hall to hear President Angell's annual address to the freshmen. He took up the question of immorality in college.

"Compare 2000 students with 2000 young men outside of college," said President Angell, "and you will find that the collegians are fully up to the moral standard of their non-college brethren."

"For Michigan, she sends out more foreign missionaries than any other institution in the country. As a whole, the aims and purposes of the students are high and noble, but occasionally they let go in foolish escapades, reports of which are spread broadcast about the country, giving a wrong impression of American student life."

"The thing I want to impress with the young men today is that the reputation of the University of Michigan lies in your hands, and that you should set to it that your conduct does not reflect upon its good name."

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—September, 1894, takes its place in the vital statistics of the city as that of the lowest September mortality on record, according to the weekly bulletin of the Chicago Health Department. At its total of 184 deaths from all causes represents an annual rate of 12.32. Congress of Unusual Importance Meets at Boston.

Secretary Hay Extends Welcome of the Government.

He Declares American Efforts Are All for Peace.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—Advocates of the adoption of principles of peace throughout the world assembled in Boston from many quarters of the globe to take part in the proceedings of the thirteenth International Peace Congress, which opened formally today in this city. For several months plans have been in progress to make the congress more notable, if possible, than any that has been held in the past. There are many prominent delegates here from abroad, and among them were the two most notable as the two religious services held, one in the forenoon at Tremont Temple and the other in the evening at Symphony Hall, as preludes to the formal meeting. These foreign delegates will participate in the mass meetings to be held in the evenings of this week, when opportunity for a free and extended exchange of views will be given.

Deliberative sessions of the accredited delegates to the congress have been arranged for the forenoons of the week.

Among the questions to come up for action at the deliberative proceedings is that of adopting some effective method of urging the powers in the world to use every good office at their command to bring about a cessation of the Russo-Japanese war. The American Peace Society, of which Robert T. Payne, Sr., of Boston, is president, is largely represented.

A formal session was arranged for this forenoon in Tremont Temple, when Secretary of State John Hay extended the welcome of the national government to the delegates. Gov. John L. Hartwell, of Washington, and Lt. Governor of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, was unavoidably absent, owing to the funeral of Senator Hoar at Worcester. The Temple this afternoon was jammed to the doors, being turned away, unable to gain admission.

HAY'S ADDRESS.

Edwin D. Mead, chairman of the Committee on Organization of the Peace Congress, after calling the meeting to order, said:

"If the press of the world would adopt and publish in the high reaches of its columns no more than the clanger of arms would cease from the rising of the sun to its going down, and we would fancy that at least our ears, no longer stricken by the din of battle, might hear the morning stars, singing together and all the sons of God shouting for joy."

"These words are not mine, but were spoken at the International Peace Association meeting at St. Louis a short time ago by Secretary of State Hay, and it is with these words ringing in our hearts that we rejoice that the Secretary of State is John Hay, and that he is with us today."

INSESS HAY... TURN RULE

& cabestmarb M. L. C. is a great honor and privilege to be allowed to extend to you the welcome of the government and the people of the United States of America on this memorable and auspicious occasion. No thought can enter my mind for this gathering of a parliament of peace, than today, when at the other end of the world the thunder of a destructive and sanguinary war is sounding in the air, while others are preparing to settle the question of a vast transfer of power by an appeal to reason and orderly procedure, under the aunction of a law implicitly accepted by hundreds of millions.

No place could be more suitable than this high-hearted city, which has been for nearly three hundred years the birthplace and home of every idea of progress and enlightenment which has germinated in the western world. To bid you welcome to the home of Venice, of Winthrop, and of Adams, of Clinton, of Garrison, and to give you the freedom of no man's city, to make you partakers of a spiritual inheritance without which, with all our opinions, we should be poor indeed, is trust in the grand commonwealths which God has wrought, with the sword; peace under liberty. We confess that many wars have left their traces in the pages of history and literature, art has adorned the public places of this state town with the statues of its heroic sons. But the dominant note of its highest culture, its purest and noblest, has been the righteousness which enlightens nations that obedience to the inner light which leads along the paths of peace.

And the policy of the nation at large, which is the mirror of its spirit to the founders of New England, has been in the main a policy of peace. During the hundred and twenty years of our independent existence we have had but one war, and that outside world, though we have had a most grievous and dolorous struggle with our own people. We have had, I think, greater deliverance from war than any of our neighbors. All our greatest men have been earnest advocates of peace. The very men who founded the liberties with the mailed hand determined to war, which was the most futile and ferocious of human follies. Franklin and Jefferson repeatedly denounced it—the one with the language of cherubs, the other with the language of fire. But not our philosophers alone—our fighting men have seen at close quarters how hideous is the face of war.

Washington said, "We are to see this plague to mankind break from the earth;" and again he said: "We have experienced enough of it even in this country to know that it should not be without a melancholy entry entered upon." There is no discordant note in the utterances of our most eminent scholars on this subject. The most recent statement of Gen. Grant—the one which will linger longest in the memories of men—was the prayer of his war-weary heart: "We are but poor." Sherman reached the same point in his march to the sea, when he said "War is hell." And Abraham Lincoln, after the four terrible years in which he had directed our war, said, "I have sat on the threshold of eternity the fervent and touching aspiration that 'the mighty scourge of war might speedily pass away.'

IN LATER DAYS.

There has been no lessening of confidence in the sentiments of our Presidents, this subject was up to the day McKinley deplored with every pulse of his honest and kindly heart the advent of the war which he had hoped might not come in his day, and gladly hailed the opportunity for making peace; and President Roosevelt has shown a tireless energy in the work of concord that he displayed when he sought peace and ensued it on the field of battle. No Presidents in our history have been so faithful and so efficient as the last two in the cause of arbitration and of every peaceful settlement of international disputes together because their work has been harmonious and consistent.

We hailed with joy the generous invitation of the Secretary of War sent to the conference at The Hague the best men we had in our civic and military life. When The Hague Court lay apparently wrecked at the beginning of the war, it was the intervention of death before it had fairly begun to live, it was the American government which gave it the breath of life by intervening in the Republic of Serbia to share our appeal to its jurisdiction, and the second case brought before it was at the instance of Mr. Roosevelt, who declined in its favor the high hand of arbitration, thus affording an affair of world-wide importance.

I beg you to believe, it is not by way of boasting that I recall these incidents of your recent history, rather than the present administration has deeply at heart that I ask you to remember, in the deliberations upon which you are engaged in this country, that the American government is pledged and which it has steadily pursued for the last seven years. It is true that in the year previous we had a short day of war—but the peace that followed has lasted which has lasted a generation. We landed a few platoons of marines on the Isthmus last year; but the long and drawn-out guerrilla succession of trivial wars. We marched a little army to Peking; but it was to save not only the beleaguered legations, but a great hemisphere, given over to the Japanese, in a position to recommend it to other nations without the imputation of selfish motives. I therefore suggest for your information that the Executive be authorized to consider the exemption of private property at sea, or contraband of war, from capture or destruction by belligerent powers."

President urged the beneficial scheme with an earnestness which gained the willing attention of Congress, already predisposed to this spirit, and on the 28th of April of this year, the Senate, by a vote of 70 to 1, passed a resolution of both houses recommending that "The President endeavor to bring about an understanding among the principal maritime powers with a view of incorporating into the permanent law of civilized nations the principle of the exemption of all private property at sea, not contraband of war, from capture or destruction by belligerent powers."

Gen. Luke W. Wright made the principal speech at the dinner, when he was warmly cheered. His address was an able and impressive one, and he gave the guests some important facts bearing on the subject of independence. He said in part:

"...we must to the last dependence will work miracles and bring about the millennium. You make the claim, and I believe that your claim is just, that with opportunity and experience, we may yet win the world."

From semi-official sources it is learned that the attack began on the 19th along the whole line and lasted four days, various positions changing hands many times.

The high hill mentioned was a very important position to the Russians, commanding the long and narrow valley through which the Japanese advanced.

The Japanese succeeded in placing one battalion of the inner fort, was delayed between the two nations, to both of which we are bound by many ties; ties, we may be concerned to learn, for our safety, to the nations of this matter, and we hope we may have the powerful influence of this great organization in gaining their admission.

The time allotted to me is at an end. I can only bid you Godspeed in your efforts to win the wreath of olive; even if we may not win the wreath of olive; even if we may not hear the trumpets celebrating the reign of universal peace, let us not despair, for it is the measure of our forces. And if you now charge to fight the good fight of faith; we are to sail through bloody seas to win the prize."

Over one thousand Times readers who will note this advertisement have very likely never dreamed that it was possible to buy a new upright piano on terms so low as $1 per week. There is only one store in the city which offers this amazing opportunity. Of course that store is Brent's. Our piano department pays no rent. We buy pianos for cash directly from the makers. Most piano houses are agents who sell on commission and it is impossible for them to make prices or quote terms except such as are presented by the manufacturers. Brent's is independent. We sell our pianos for less money. Our expenses are so much less that we can easily afford to save you from $50 to $200 on a single instrument. Under no circumstances permit any salesman to sell you a piano until you have visited us and investigated our liberal piano prices and terms.

PUBLIC SERVICE—OFFICIAL DOINGS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Seven proposed amendments to the city charter were yesterday approved as to form by the Council. They will be submitted to the people at the December election.

J. P. Davenport yesterday made application to the Supreme Court for a writ of mandate to compel the city to recognize him as Councilman from the Sixth Ward. The application attacks the constitutionality of the recall provision of the city charter.

The City Attorney last night left for Washington, D. C., to argue before the Supreme Court of the United States the right of the city to establish a district outside of which the maintenance of a gas plant can be prohibited.

Protest will this morning be made before the Police Board against its action in granting a saloon license for Seventh and Mateo streets.

Forger Rogerson, a labor-union "operator," was yesterday examined in the Police Court and held for trial on a charge of forging the name of L. C. Hurbut to a check.

Ladies of the Seven Court Committee appeared yesterday before the Board of Supervisors asking for ten acres in the city to be used for a new Juvenile Home.

Vicente de Cigarran is plaintiff against the Espey for $20,000 on account of the death of his wife.

Manufacturers and Warehouse Men Protest Against Twenty-one-Year Limitation on Spur Track Franchise—Plan to Extend Municipal Ownership of the Public Utilities.

Seven proposed amendments to the city charter were yesterday approved as to form by the Council. They will be submitted to a vote at the December election. The Council declined to pass judgment as to whether it deems the amendments to be conducive to a better city government, but decided by unanimous vote that the people themselves must be the judges of whether the adoption of any or all of the amendments would be desirable.

Six of the seven amendments are submitted wholly without recommendation. Five came from the Finance Committee, but owing to a division in that body, they were submitted without a favorable report. Two others were reported at the eleventh hour; these the Council distinctly disclaimed to father, but voted to submit them to the people for a final decision. The amendment providing for the consolidation of certain city and county offices was endorsed by the committee of conference.

Some of the salient points in the proposed amendments are as follows:

Abolishment of the elective offices of Assessor, Tax Collector, Engineer and Superintendent of Streets, and the appointment of commissioners of Buildings, Electrician and Plumbing Inspector. These offices will be replaced by the consolidation of the city and county offices of Assessor and Tax Collector and by the creation of a Public Works, named by the Mayor and confirmed by the Council.

Holding municipal elections on the odd numbered years in order that they may not occur the same year that State and national elections are held on which the city elections are held is also changed from the first Monday in December to the first Tuesday. In order that the change from even to odd years may not interfere with the primary election, a provision is made that the successful candidate who goes into office January 1, 1900, shall serve a three years' term.

Providing a manner in which the city may purchase its own steam railroads, operate gas and other municipal lighting plants and build conduits.

Limiting the terms of franchises to twenty-one years and providing for the ultimate ownership of not only the franchise, but the property of the companies operating them when the franchise expires.

Providing that the Board of Public Works can let certain classes of contracts and that the Council or other body can make purchases in amounts up to $500 without making a formal contract.

Extending the civil service provisions of the charter so as to include unskilled labor and the dependents of the police and fire departments.

Considerable discussion preceded the adoption of the amendment providing for limiting the terms of franchises to twenty-one years. The objections came principally from representatives of manufacturers and warehouse men, who objected to the amendment's including spur track franchises granted to steam railroads.

A representative of the State Railroads, asked the Council to insert a clause in the amendment to the effect that it should not apply to the grant of franchises for spur tracks. He said that the steam roads operated under the supervision of the State of California and that they were all for fifty-year periods. He argued that to limit the spur track franchises to twenty-one years would work a hardship on the railroads. He also said that there was a tendency to stifle competition. He said that railroads would build around a city which sought to enforce such uniform regulations rather than through it.

Another said that he was willing to vote for the proposed amendment if the clause excepting spur tracks were added.

"By extending it to spur tracks we are virtually killing the whole amendment." The speaker then advised the applicant to withdraw his request for a license. They have just learned that last Tuesday the Police Board, without protest by any of the interested property owners, issued a license permit for the disputed location.

Now the Seventh Ward people are threatening their children with the Police Board, faith with their neighbors. Each time the police advised the applicant to withdraw his request for a license, they have just learned that last Tuesday the Police Board, without protest by any of the interested property owners, issued a license permit for the disputed location.

The location for which the license was issued is within less than two blocks of the school and is within 50 feet of the school grounds.

Catesby Thom, member of the Board of Education from the Seventh Ward, yesterday said that he thought the Constitution had given the license without understanding that it was for the disputed location on East Seventh street.

"I have assurances from the County and from Mr. Thom, that they would not issue a franchise, grade the right of way and even furnish the plates and ties. If you fail to make an exception in favor of the school, we will have an amendment that will be opened by practically every business man in the city. This is a case where someone is trying to drive a sword right through a friend in hopes that he may reach an imagination enemy."

Assistant City Attorney Goode was sent for. He said that the amendment had not been submitted in its present form to the Charter Revision Committee.

He said that it had been scrutinized in the City Attorney's office for legal flaws and that there were none patent on its face. As to the policy of placing it in the charter, that, he said, the Council and the public decide.

Other Councilmen insisted that, inasmuch as the amendment evidently came from electors themselves and from no committee, it should be submitted to the people. The application attacks the constitutionality of the recall provision of the city charter.

Owing to extended sickness, President Bowen did not attend yesterday's session of the Council and did not receive the petition. The Finance Committee reported that, with more rigid economy in other expenditures, this city can finance a plan or proposition to purchase a library site, provided the petition of C. A. Stamps for the O'Dea property at Eleventh and Flower sites to be used for a library is denied. Stamps for the O'Dea property at Eleventh and Flower sites to be used for a library is denied.

Accompanying the report from the Finance Committee was a communication from the firm of Nolan & Daner, attorneys for the city, that the city has won. Next Monday and Tuesday it will be up for final argument in the highest legal tribunal of the state.

Considerable interest is manifested in the final outcome because a decision favorable to the city would do much to establish the right of the city to discriminate in the award of contracts.

In addition to this the Standard refuses to make any further reductions. It reserves the right to stop buying any time and receive only what is actually in the pipe line at the time of sale. What the larger companies do not know at present, however, is that they will not accept offers. The Graceland has passed down all its wells under construction completed. RIVERSIDE WATER SUPPLY WAS SERIOUSLY ENDANGERED.

Explosion Wrecks Pumping Plant and Only Bravery of Engineer and His Wife Prevented Destruction of Main Supply Flume—Narrow Escape from Horrible Death.

COLTON, Oct. 2.—By an explosion followed by a fire which wrecked what is known as the flume-pumping plant of the Riverside Water Company last night, the water supply of the city of Riverside was endangered and today the town seems near being really a "dry town" than at any time in its history. That its supply of water was not entirely cut off for several days was due to the prompt work of W. A. Scott, engineer in charge of the plant, and to the heroism of his wife.

The engine is a fifty-horse-power gasoline engine, and when Scott left it last night it was running smoothly.

Two hours later he was awakened by the sound of three distinct explosions, and on going out to investigate, found the pumping plant in flames.
